FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Heart of Texas Regatta – March 6-7, 2010

AUSTIN, TX Austin Rowing Club will host the Heart of Texas Regatta on Saturday and Sunday, March 6 & 7, 2010. The 7-lane, fully buoyed race course is installed on Lady Bird Lake just east of I-35. Festivities on land take place at Festival Beach Park. Approximately 1,100 competitors from over 30 rowing clubs will compete during the 2-day event. Athletes represent 15 cities in 5 states. Events include several boat classes in Adaptive (Paralympic), Junior (High School), Open, Collegiate and Masters categories.

Austin Rowing Club has hosted the Heart of Texas Regatta annually in March since 1983. The event has grown to become the largest rowing regatta in the Southeast Region, with races starting every 8 minutes from 8am through 4pm both days.

The first regatta of the spring for most competitors, the Heart offers high school and collegiate teams an early-season racing opportunity. The University of Texas, Baylor University, Louisiana State University, Milwaukee School of Engineering, Northwestern State University (LA), Oklahoma City University, St. Edwards University, Texas A&M, and Texas A&M Galveston are among the colleges that will test their speed at Lady Bird Lake.

Masters events will be contested by several clubs from Texas, including Austin, Dallas and Houston, and from clubs as far away as Portland, OR. Masters racing is split into age categories. Masters competitors at the 2010 Heart will range in age from 21 to 76 with rowers competing within their age group. There is also a novice category for athletes in their first year of rowing.
